

Hospitality graduate takes his talents (and work ethic) to Southern California

Published 4/6/2023 by Stephanie Conte

Seneca graduate Sam Kim has one piece of advice for students: Don't be afraid to start chasing your career dreams by working in a junior position.

After all, that's what he did – and he's now the manager of a famous luxury hotel in Southern California.

He was recently appointed Manager of the Beverly Hilton in Beverly Hills. The 566-room hotel plays a major role in the Hollywood social scene, annually hosting the Golden Globe Awards and a widely-attended luncheon for Academy Award nominees.
