Seneca is using a Canadian digital credential platform called MyCreds to issue academic documents electronically. These digital credentials are certified and considered official, and can be shared securely with educational institutions, employers and other third parties.

August 2023 graduates will receive a digital credential in September, April graduates will receive a digital credential in May, and December graduates will receive a digital credential in January. When the credentials are issued, graduates will receive an email from MyCreds with a link to login and view their document.

Please refer to the Viewing and Sharing your Credential using MyCreds tip sheet \(PDF\) for further information on retrieving and sharing your document.
