The School of English and Liberal Studies (SELS) invites you to book a SEAT and explore Canada while you earn a credit!

SELS Experiential Academic Travel (SEAT) courses are the newest addition to the rich array of School of English and Liberal Studies electives designed to complement your program studies. Each SEAT course has a mandatory experiential travel component. Travel is always within Canada.

Whether your travel is in one of Canada's vibrant cities or natural settings, you are sure to deepen and enhance your learning through this experiential opportunity.

SEAT courses require students to pay additional costs above regular tuition fees to cover travel and experiential learning expenses. Fees will vary depending on the destination and accommodations.

Our first SEAT is NAT248: The Sustainable Forest - Haliburton. Details about the course and how to register are here.
