Seneca remains committed to creating a safe space free from sexual violence. When acts of Sexual Violence occur at a field placement, it is considered to be a college sanctioned activity and therefore needs to be reported, under Seneca's Sexual Violence Policy.

To ensure that those who are affected by sexual violence are believed and appropriately accommodated, Seneca has an investigative process that protects the rights of individuals. Students should inform their Field Liaison if they have experienced any form of sexual violence on campus or at the placement site.
