

A skincare showcase for the ages

Published 15 days ago by Ryan Flanagan

A recent student event at Newnham Campus displayed both the latest in personal care innovation and the benefits of connecting students and employers.

Students in the Cosmetic Science program brought a close to their time at Seneca on Aug. 20 by presenting the results of their capstone projects. Students spent 14 weeks developing formulations, packaging and marketing campaigns for their industry partners, a group mostly composed of Indigenous-owned personal care companies.
