

Heather M.

Published 10/13/2021 by Gerald Encabo

It's been my pleasure to work as a professor at Seneca since 2017. I'm currently teaching Introduction to Business Administration; Discover Destinations II and Tourism Planning and Design. These three are favourite courses because they draw from my travel and business experience.

While living in British Columbia for 16 years, I worked to help build what became a large national tour operator. After that I worked with a luxury Railtour company selling "trips of a lifetime" through the Rocky Mountains. Most recently I worked for 8 years with Sunwing Vacations in Toronto, as Vice President, Operations.

An avid explorer, I've been to over 46 countries around the world and plan to visit more as soon as possible.

tags : faculty