

Two new programs launching in January

Published 2 days ago by Cam Gordon

We're excited to announce that two new programs are now open for applications: Business – Supply Chain & Operations and Digital Marketing Communication & Analytics.

Business – Supply Chain & Operations is a two-year diploma program that will provide students with foundational knowledge in transportation, logistics and supply chain management, building on the other great programs available through the School of Global Business.

Digital Marketing Communication & Analytics is a two-year graduate certificate program designed for international students and professionals aiming to enter and thrive in Canada's dynamic digital marketing and communications industry.

Both programs are PWGP-eligible and incorporate experiential learning opportunities including optional co-op terms.

Applications are now open for the inaugural intakes of these programs, with classes starting in January 2026.

tags : student-news