

Explore Grad Week events: March 23–27

Published 2 days ago by NATYRA RAMADANI

Graduating soon or recently completed your program? Grad Week is designed to help Seneca students and recent alumni prepare for their next steps.

From March 23 to 27, Grad Week offers in-person and virtual sessions that support your transition from student life to your career or further studies. Throughout the week, you'll find opportunities to explore career pathways, build job-ready skills and learn about graduate studies opportunities. Whether you're entering the workforce, continuing your studies or seeking support with post-graduation planning, Grad Week has you covered.

Highlights include:

- Graduate Studies Virtual Expo: Explore master's programs and professional designations in Canada and abroad. Join the Graduate Studies Virtual Expo and meet academic pathways experts, connect with participating institutions and explore master's programs and professional designations.
- Career Preparation Workshops: Build confidence with sessions focused on resumé and cover letter writing, LinkedIn optimization and job search strategies.
- Advising: Connect one-on-one with advisers to explore program options, discuss your post graduation path or get guidance on PGWP and immigration questions.
- International Student Resources: Access tailored workshops on working in Canada, IELTS exam preparation and community supports to help you navigate life after graduation.
- On-campus Engagement Opportunities: Drop by for free LinkedIn headshots, professional attire through Career Threads and booths offering information, services and supports for students and alumni – including community resources, curriculum integration activities and convocation guidance.

Visit the Grad Week event page to explore the full schedule and register for sessions.
