Compressed general education and liberal studies courses available in August

Published 7/23/2026 by Ryan Flanagan

The Faculty of Arts is offering two new online courses for students who are nearing graduation and need one more general education or liberal arts credit.

Each course has been compressed into one week to provide added flexibility for students who are close to completing their program.

Both courses run from Monday, Aug. 24 to Friday, Aug. 28, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

Please note that these courses do not count toward full-time or part-time OSAP course load and taking them may impact OSAP funding.

For more information and to register, visit the General Education Courses and Liberal Studies Courses webpages.

tags : student-news