Professors and students at Seneca@York Campus welcomed CHCH's Morning Live on campus to take part in activities with students and talk about the upcoming Virtual Open House on April 9.

It was a homecoming for host Tim Bolen, who graduated from Seneca's Journalism program 16 years ago, and enjoyed revisiting the broadcasting studio where he studied, while also experiencing Seneca@York's newer labs and classrooms.

Mr. Bolen met with students and conducted interviews with Kurt Muller, Dean, Faculty of Communication, Art & Design and professors Sam Braithwaite, Andrew Collop and Brook Jacobs. He also took part in a life drawing class, saw the new flexible learning television lab, watched students harvest cells and collaborate in the new creative advertising space, The Agency.
