

Transgender athlete inspires teammates and policy changes

Published 4/12/2022 by Tiffany Hsieh

Before she made the Seneca Sting women's volleyball team, CL Vilorio used to play on the boys' team in high school. Back then, she didn't think it was possible to be on the right team for her, fearing how people would react.

Today, the Practical Nursing student is not only the first varsity athlete at Seneca to have openly identified herself as transgender, but she has been one of the key players on the court this season.

Read the full story

tags : feature-stories