

Today is Global Accessibility Awareness Day

Published 5/19/2022 by Stephanie Conte

Today is Global Accessibility Awareness Day. It is a day to increase awareness of digital access and inclusion for people with disabilities. At Seneca, we are committed to supporting and facilitating the learning experience for all of our students, including students with disabilities.

Seneca's offers many different supports to students trying to manage the complexities of college life.

Services can help students fulfill their personal and academic potential.

tags : student-news