

Attend the 2022 Virtual Graduate Studies Expo

Published 10/24/2022 by Stephanie Conte

Are you planning the next step in your academic journey? If you're a student completing your degree and considering a master's program or someone who has a degree and considering a professional designation, you won't want to miss this event.

What you can expect at the Graduate Studies Expo:

- learn about different graduate studies options that are available in Canada and abroad
- connect with representatives from postsecondary institutions offering master's programs and other graduate-level education including Bachelor of Education programs
- attend information sessions with live Q-and-A
- access information to help you plan and make informed decisions in furthering your education

Event schedule and participating institutions:

- participating institutions will host live information sessions at various times
- visit the event website to access the full schedule, view which institutions are participating and to register
- prepare for the event by reviewing online resources such as the How to Prepare for Graduate Studies webinar

Register now

tags : student-news