Water is the thoroughfare of life. By its presence all things live and share a connection to one another. It heals us, preserves us and uplifts us in every way. Everything we do rests on the foundation of our relationship to water and its constant gift.

Water is the blue ribbon that moves through and connects the murals visually. Water, in all its many forms, can be found falling from the sky, in a pipe, or flowing through a river or lake. It erupts from a drinking fountain, or it is filled with fish and water birds. Animals drink from it; firefighters stop fires with it. Water is the foundation and the thread.
