

Attend a conversation with Naomi Klein on sustainability and moving forward today

Published 10/27/2022 by Stephanie Conte

Join us on today from 1 to 1:50 p.m. for a conversation with Naomi Klein and Kurt Muller, Dean, Faculty of Communication, Art & Design and Co-chair of the Sustainability Committee, as they discuss the global climate justice movement and more.

Ms. Klein is an award-winning journalist and New York Times bestselling author who is dedicated to dismantling the dangerous myths surrounding climate change. During her conversation with Mr. Muller, she will challenge us to think differently about climate justice and how the pandemic is an opportunity to look towards change and the future.

Please register for this event.

This webinar is co-hosted by the Au Large Webinar Series and the Green Citizen Symposium.

The Au Large Webinar Series: The Path Forward is an exclusive series for the Seneca community to discuss the path forward to sustainability, diversity and hybrid work.

tags : student-news