

Help us illustrate Black Canadian icons for Black History Month

Published 1/16/2023 by Shona Dias

Please Note: If you have previously filled out this form and not heard back from us, please email shona.dias@senecacollege.ca

We apologise for the inconvenience, as there seems to be a technical glitch in the previous form

Seneca's Student Life team will be recognizing the achievements and contributions and stories of resilience of 28 Black Canadians during Black History Month.

We are looking for students who are interested in helping illustrate some of these icons. If you are interested, please fill out the online form

We will be honouring your contribution with a byline on the published material and all contributors will be given a prize. Prizes includes a choice between a drawing tablet and Arteza pens.

Throughout February, Seneca students and employees will be able to learn about icons in the Black community and participate in a variety of events. More information will be available in the coming weeks.

tags : student-news